OF
ENGLISH CHAMBER CHOIR
PERFORMANCES AND EVENTS

1970-2023

PETER ADDERLEY

DAVID LOWE

ENGLISH CHAMBER CHOIR HISTORY

"The English Chamber Choir was formed [by David Measham] in 1970. There was a desire to sing in a compact group with a vast repertoire at its disposal, with or without orchestra. Aims include the performance of neglected works many by English composers ...

"David Measham at present principal 2nd violin [of the LSO] is rapidly making a name for himself in the conducting field ..."

{from programme notes, 12 March 1972}

"The English Chamber Choir was founded in 1970 by David Meesham [sic] and has recorded the symphony, 'The Skies of America' for CBS." [when?]

{from programme notes, 6 October 1972}

"The English Chamber Choir was founded in 1971 by David Measham."

{from programme notes, 1 February 1976. First mention of "1971", which has usually been quoted ever since}

"The English Chamber Choir was established in 1972."

{from programme notes, 16 May 1987}

The Choir did not start rehearsing on a regular basis until February 1972.

A formal constitution was adopted in April 1974.

Russian Evening

The Anglican Prayer Book liturgy was blended with music from the Orthodox tradition, drawn from Tchaikovsky's Liturgy of St John Christostom. An introductory talk, on the musical traditions of the Church in Russia, was followed by Solemn Eucharist (celebrant Canon James Rosenthal), accompanied by Tchaikovsky's music sung by the Choir (Guy Protheroe conductor).

Concert for Armistice Day Centenary

A programme, encompassing more than seven centuries of choral writing, from the earliest surviving polyphonic setting of the Requiem by Ockeghem to Stravinsky's Requiem Canticles. Movements of the Requiem by nine composers including music reflecting on the centenary of the 1918 Armistice, including music dating from that year by Howells, Parry and Stanford, Will Todd's No More Sorrow, written a hundred years later and Holst's rarely performed Ode to Death, his 1919 commemoration of the war dead, in an arrangement for choir and organ by Iain Farrington.

The Requiem

Johannes Ockeghem - Introit Missa Pro Defunctis - 1461
Tomás Luis de Victoria - Kyrie, from Requiem - 1605
Johannes Brahms - Ihr habt nun traurigkeit, from Ein Deutsches Requiem - 1867
